Depressed by continued ill health, Alexander H Fitzgerald, fifty-one years old, a well-known educator, fired a bullet into his right templayesterday morning shortly before Jo'clock at his home, 1019 Porter Street, South Richmend. In a dying condition, he was rushed to the Johnston-Willis Sanatorium, where an operation was performed. The chances were said to be against his recovery. Late last night he was reported to be resting quietly with his condition unchanged.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who for more than twenty years was at the head of the Manchester school system and was later principal of Marshall School suffered a general breakdown in health hearly a year ago. He was granted a leave of absence, but finding that his recovery was slow, asked for and was retired on a pension. Recently he has been nervous, and has been watched closely by his family. During an ungarded moment he committed the act. The weapon he used was a .38-callbre revolver, which, it is thought, he had concealed in his From present indications there is

Gave Wrong Address.

In the list of appointments issued from the office of Governor Mann on Thursday there appeared the name of H. W. Adams, of Lynchburg. It should have been H. W. Adams, of Lynchburg is should have been the W. Adams, of Lynchburg of the State Board of Agriculture and Immigration. As there is a city official in Lynchburg of the same initials, the Governor's secretary hastened to make a correction to set the record straight, the Governor's intention being to name a practical farmer rather than a handler of the accounts of the city of Lynchburg.

To Bear Expenses of Gettysburg Trip-Fair Association Renews Car Line Petition.

Car Line Petition.

Unable to ascertain the number of Confederate veterans desiring to attend the joint reunion at Gettysburg next month at the expense of the county, the Henrico Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon at a special session, decided to allow $10 for each veteran in Heu of a lump appropriation. Samuel P. Waddill, clerk of the court, and W. C. Saunders, chairman of the board, were selected as the committee to take charge of the matter. Although advertised extensively, the offer of the county to defray expenses seems to be appreciated by a few of the veterans. Less than a dozen have made application from the Virginia State Fair Association, in which its request that the Virginia Rallway and Power Company be permitted to run its cars into the grounds by way of the new concrete bridge recently thrown open, was renewed. Meeting with opposition from the citizens of Lakeside, who have fought the proposition since its inception, the board appointed a committee, consisting of O. N. Nuckols and George J. Stoneman, to confer with the car company and the Lakeside people.

The company proposes to move its present line from the side of the Boulevard to the centre of the street and then cross the bridge into the grounds. The board is opposed to the use of the county road without adequate compensation. Lakeside people contend that the company should grant them a straight 5-cent fare for the privilege of improving the line. This the company will not agree to do. The bridge was built jointly by the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Rallroad, the Fair Association, the car company and the Isakeside grounds.
